

SilverStripe

Sophisticated, Content-Managed Websites

The SilverStripe CMS gives you a powerful and user-friendly web publishing platform.

Our technology allows complete flexibility of design and features for your site or application.

Because it's open source, you can download it for free and build with it yourself, or invite us to help you.

Why SilverStripe ?

Cost-effective: Our software is open source—you never pay any license fees.

User-friendly: It's all about the user—your staff don't need to be tech-savvy to use the CMS quickly and with confidence.

Focus on content: We know content is one of the biggest challenges for any web team—we can help with strategy, migration, and managing content across a number of disparate sites, systems, and technologies.

Secure and scalable: Our product grows with your needs.

Standards-compliant: SilverStripe is built with best practices in mind—it's easy to make and keep your site compliant with W3C web and accessibility standards.

Flexible: Our modern architecture allows us to build interactive, sophisticated sites and applications, and is completely extendable for your specific needs, whether it's a new feature or integration with legacy systems.

Supported: Our company and software have an international reputation, with partners around the world and over 250,000 downloads to date.

Ways to work with SilverStripe

1 We build and support it

Whether you are creating a new website or upgrading an existing one, our team can help you from start to finish. In addition to web and software development we provide services such as information architecture, user experience, graphic design, content strategy, and migration, as well as hosting and support.

Our company has 40 staff and 10 years experience building complex websites for government and the private sector.
